

Tierra de Sabor, Castilla y León's seal of quality, honours the vast range of products produced across its varied and wide geography. In the agri-food sector, the province holds 16 IPGs and 3 DOPs, and in the wine sector, it is home to 1 IGP and 13 DOPs. In other words, there would be too many to cover were it not for the Salón Gourmets from 18 to 21 October 2021.

The most complete sample of Tierra de Sabor can be found at the 34th Salón Gourmets

The Department of Agriculture, Livestock and Rural Development of the Castilla y León Regional Government is back at the Salón Gourmets with an unparalleled display of products that showcase the quality and variety of this Autonomous Community's agri-food sector.

The label, Tierra de Sabor, which was introduced in 2009 to highlight the sector's enormous potential, has already been awarded to nearly a thousand companies; between them, these firms produce over 6,000 products. The best and most complete sample of what this seal of quality means will be on display in the large space reserved within the Salón Gourmets.

Tierra de Sabor is already a well-known indicator that guarantees the quality and traceability of healthy products rooted in the territory, as will be shown in the different activities, talks and tastings held at its stand. These include sausages, meats, cheeses, truffles and, of course, wine.

With the co-sponsorship of Bodegas Protos and Nespresso, Tierra de Sabor also sponsors the traditional and renowned Sommeliers Spanish Championship, now returning for its 26th year. The contest aims increase the visibility of sommelier culture as well as selecting the top professional who will represent Spain in the World Sommeliers' Championship. The jury comprises the presidents of Sommeliers' Associations from different provinces and representatives from the event sponsors. As a new addition this year, Damián Seijas, professional barista and Nespresso ambassador, will offer a masterclass, including a tasting of 4 varieties of Nespresso Professional.
